There are many persisting factors in dyslexia which can appear at the youngest age, and still be noticeable when the dyslexic child leaves school.

These include:-

- Obvious "good" and "bad" days, for no apparent reason.
- Confusion between directional words e.g. up / down; in/ out
- Difficulty with sequence, e.g. coloured bead sequence - later with days of the week, or numbers.
- A family history of dyslexia / reading difficulties.

Pre School

- Has persistent jumbled phrases, e.g. "cobbler's club" for "toddlers' club".
- Use of substitute words, e.g. "lampshade" for "lamp-post"
- Inability to remember the label for known objects e.g. table, chair
- Difficulty learning nursery rhymes and rhyming words, e.g. "cat", "mat", "sat".
- Finds difficulty in selecting the "odd one out" e.g. "cat", "pig", "house".
- Later than expected learning to speak clearly

Non-language indicators

- May have walked early but did not crawl - was a "bottom shuffler" or "tummy wriggler"
- Persistent difficulties in getting dressed efficiently and putting shoes on the correct feet
- Enjoys being read to, but shows no interest in letters or words
- Is often accused of not listening or paying attention
- Excessive tripping, bumping into things, and falling over
- Difficulty with catching, kicking or throwing a ball, with hopping and/or skipping
- Difficulty with clapping a simple rhythm

Primary School Age

- Has particular difficulty with reading & spelling
- Puts letters & figures the wrong way round
- Has difficulty remembering tables & alphabet
- Leaves letters out of words or puts them in the wrong order
- Still occasionally confuses b and d and other letters
- Still needs to use fingers or marks on paper to make simple calculations
- Has problems understanding what s/he has read
- Takes longer than average to do written work.

Non-language indicators

- Has difficulty with tying shoe laces, tie, dressing
- Has difficulty telling left from right, order of days of the week, months of the year etc.
- Surprises you because in other ways s/he is bright and alert
- Has a poor sense of direction and still confuses left and right
- Lacks self-confidence and has a poor self image

Age 12 and Over

- Still reads inaccurately
- Still has difficulties in spelling
- Needs to have instructions and telephone numbers repeated
- Gets "tied up" using long words, e.g. "preliminary", "philosophical"
- Confuses places, times, dates
- Has difficulty with planning and writing essays

Non-language indicators

- Has poor confidence and self-esteem
- Poor organisation

CHECKLIST for DYSLEXIC ADULTS

The following list is reproduced from "Dyslexia: Signposts to Success" published by the BDA

Only answer "YES" if the problem happens frequently

- Read very slowly and may re-read several times before I am sure that I understand
- Lose my place or miss out lines when reading
- When I write I confuse words that are similar
- I make many spelling mistakes
- Some days I spell better than other days
- I cannot copy things down
- I dread being given complicated instructions
- I get confused about dates and times
- I find it difficult to organise myself
- I confuse left and right
- Many of my difficulties get worse under stress
- I am often thought to be lazy

Most people will answer YES to a few things listed here.

If you find many of the problems familiar, you may need to seek further advice from your college or job centre
